The Blue Book of Nebo

Manon Steffan Ros

January 2022 | £8.99 | 160pp | 14+
978-1-913102-78-4 (paperback)

UK and Commonwealth rights c/o Firefly Press

Dylan was six when The End came; when the electricity went off for good, and the 'normal' 21st-century world he knew disappeared. Now he's 14 and he and his mam have survived in their isolated hilltop house above the village of Nebo in north-west Wales, learning new skills, and returning to old ways of living. Despite their close understanding, the relationship between mother and son changes subtly as Dylan must take on adult responsibilities. And they each have their own secrets, which emerge as, in turn, they jot down their thoughts and memories in a found notebook – the Blue Book of Nebo.

“A tender, tragic post-apocalyptic story, told with great simplicity and power.” Imogen Russell Williams, The Guardian”

“An uplifting and thoroughly heart-warming take on the post-apocalyptic novel, this has all the markers of a modern classic.” Lauren James

Manon Steffan Ros was born in Snowdonia and worked as an actress before becoming a writer. She writes in Welsh for adults and children and has won numerous awards. The Blue Book of Nebo was adapted by the author from the Welsh novel Llyfr Glas Nebo, which won awards in three categories at the Welsh Book of the Year 2019, and the prestigious prose medal at the National Eisteddfod in 2018. She lives in north Wales with her sons. @ManonSteffanRos

Monster Max and the Marmalade Ghost Book 2

Robin Bennett

Illustrated by Tom Tinn-Disbury

February 2022 | £6.99 | 192pp | 7-9 fiction

978-1-913102-82-1 (paperback)

World English rights c/o Firefly Press

Max is an ordinary boy, except that he can turn into a monster when he burps...

Max and Peregrine are volunteering at an old people's home, when strange things start to happen. One resident is walking on the ceiling, one is riding their wheelchair through walls, and Reggie says his marmalade is haunted. Max and Peregrine try to help, but things get really sticky, Max falls out with his (joint) best friend, and just when it can't get any worse, someone kidnaps Frankenstein the cat...

Time to 'Protect and Do Good Stuff!'

“ Bonkers from start to finish. And I mean that in a GOOD way. ”
Philip Ardagh

Robin Bennett has set up and run over a dozen successful businesses from dog-sitting to tuition to translation. The list is quite exhausting. Robin is married with three young children. He spends his time between Pau in the Pyrenées and Henley-on-Thames.

Just when you thought it was safe to go back to sleep...

It's five months since the Crater Lake Year Six school trip from hell, and Lance and his friends have struggled with the transition to high school. But now things have got strange in their hometown of Straybridge: there's been an explosion at the university, a mysterious creature has escaped, the town is under curfew and Lance's mum is acting seriously weird. Cut off from help, can Lance reunite Katja, Chets, Ade, Big Mak, and new friend Karim to tackle an enemy straight out of their nightmares...?

“Just the right sort of scary and spirited, with plenty of Killick's trademark humour. Fiona Noble, The Bookseller”

“Howlingly funny horror for beginners ... Killick has a fine ear for comic dialogue. Alex O'Connell, The Times”

Welcome to Crater Lake: the Year Six school trip where your first day just might be your last...

Maybe it's the bloodstained man who tries to stop the coach. Maybe it's the absence of welcoming staff, but something is definitely not right at Crater Lake Activity Centre.

Then, at night, things get much, much stranger ... Lance and his friends, Chets, Katja, Big Mak and Adrianne, find themselves in a fight for survival and must work together to defeat a swarm of enemies.

But whatever happens they must never, ever, fall asleep!

Edited by T.S. Eliot prize winner Philip Gross

The Week Junior Book of the Week

Shortlisted for Wales Book of the Year 2022

From hairy jellybeans to beautiful daydreams, the poems within this debut collection are to be enjoyed. They aim to spark familiarity and inclusion, and expand the mind in curious and imaginative ways.

Written for 7–11 year olds, and beautifully illustrated by talented young illustrator Katy Riddell, these poems use rhythm, rhyme and free verse, and are ideally suited to performance in a school setting, nurturing a love of language, reading, confidence and self-expression.

Alex Wharton is a writer and poet. He is a senior building surveyor in Torfaen, south Wales. He has been published regularly in The Caterpillar, Wales Haiku Journal, Hedgerow and I am not a silent Poet. He collaborated with The Reading Realm in January 2020 where five of his poems featured on the educational iTunes App.

A regular compère of Cardiff Arts Free Festival, he visits schools to perform his poetry and facilitate writing workshops. @alexwhartonpoet

Katy Riddell grew up in Brighton and was obsessed with drawing from a young age. Since graduating with a BA Hons in Illustration and Animation from Manchester Metropolitan University, she has worked on Pongwiffy, Midnight Feasting and The International Yeti Collective. She lives and works in Brighton.

“ This is a lovely, warm collection of poems that hail from a place of wonder and mystery. Joshua Seigal ”

The Sleeping Stones

Beatrice Wallbank

February 2023 | £7.99 | 272pp | 9-12 fiction
978-1-915444-05-9 (paperback)
World rights c/o Firefly Press

Beatrice Wallbank grew up in mid Wales, surrounded by sheep. When not wandering about in wild places thinking about stories she works backstage in theatre – storytelling in a different form.

Prepare for the storm...

Gruff lives on a small island full of legends, off the coast of Wales. When Mat and her family arrive, Gruff thinks he sees the sea in her eyes. Strange things start happening; the myth of the sleeping stones may be true, and soon Gruff and Mat must risk everything to save their island from an ancient anger. A brilliant MG debut about belonging, friendship and nature.

Sam Stewart was born in Zambia, grew up in South Africa and now lives in England with her two children. She has been fascinated by fire since a very early age when she accidentally set her bedroom alight, and though Fireblood features some spontaneous blazes and a fair amount of unexpected flame she has been very careful with anything burny ever since.

Dragons don't exist. But they used to...

In an attempt to save their father, Finn and Tula are sucked from their familiar but hidden Bristol home, into a world they never knew even existed. Discovering their father's secret link with dragons, the siblings must help save him and the world they know, and find out the truth of their heritage.

The Dark and Dangerous Gifts of Delores Mackenzie

Yvonne Banham

April 2023 | £7.99 | 9-12 fiction
978-1-915444-07-3 (paperback)
World rights c/o Firefly Press

The dead have swirled around Delores Mackenzie ever since she can remember, keeping her company when living children refused. Now they want more, and Delores must seek the help of the mysterious Uncles in Edinburgh's Old Town to try to control her gifts. But when a sinister apparition threatens the life of her new friends, has Delores learnt enough to save them?

A shapeshifting, ghost-filled, paranormal whydunnit with a grumpy gargoye and a touch of Tartan Noir!

Yvonne Banham has completed two years of study with the Golden Egg Academy and is one of the network organisers for SCBWI Scotland. She grew up on a small island off the Cumbrian coast and spent lots of time huddled on blustery beaches with a book or three.
